Huge Profits On Contracts Will Be Eyed

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A Senate committee investigating defense contracts is expected to center mainly on the Atlas Nike and Bomarc missiles.

Atlas, an intercontinental ballistic missile, is the vehicle which will be used to launch John Glenn, Jr., on his space flight around the world. Bomarc and the various missile types are ground-to-air missiles designed to shoot down any attacking aircraft.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has set Tuesday for start of the hearings by his senate investigations subcommittee. He said spokesmen for some of the nation's biggest and best known missile contractors will be questioned.

The inquiry, he said, will seek the facts about "what appear to be unnecessary and excessive costs or millions of dollars resulting from the pyramiding of profits on subcontractors."

Support for Helping U.N.
Is Expected

WASHINGTON, March 31 (UPI)—President Kennedy's willingness to compromise appears likely to win him Senate support for a plan to provide the United Nations with $100 million dollars in U.S. funds.

Although the details remained to be wrapped up, Kennedy was reported ready to approve a compromise by which Congress would appropriate $100 million in loans to the United Nations—lo to be negotiated at interest rates and at time rates set by the President.

This represents an amalgamation of the original Kennedy proposal with substitute offered by Senate Republicans. Many believe it will get top-heavy Senate approval. The Senate is scheduled to begin debate on it Monday.

Kennedy originally asked 100 million dollars a year—twice per cent interest. U.N. bonds had financial assistance for U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

four of the latter were damaged after treatment.

Damage to homes and business houses was estimated at upward of 1.5 million dollars, said C. M. McLean, president of the Minidoka county council. He added: "But that's just a guess right now."

The black funnel topped a 300-foot microwave tower and knocked down high voltage lines throughout the area.

Weather forecasts had called for nothing more than scattered showers and residents were unaware of the approaching danger.

One person was hurt and 10 buildings damaged by a tornado in the Pleasant Valley community of Minidoka, Idaho.

Three small tornadoes also were reported in south Georgia, but there were no reports of injuries.

The Milton tornado struck in an area of homes ranging from $12,000 to $15,000 in value.

Plane Forced Down When Motor Failed

a cloud of dust and smoke for almost three miles. Mrs. Lee Blitzenburg, who was about three miles away, was driving along the highway just before it crashed and wondered if it was in trouble.

"I was on the tractor and looked up when a large shadow came across the road," she said. "It didn't look like it was over 20 feet above me," he noted.

The plane disappeared behind a ridge and then he heard a roar and saw smoke.

"It's a good thing I didn't see it sooner or I would probably have jumped right off that tractor," he added. "The plane hooked mighty big."

Pago said he heard no motor noise from the craft, explaining that the engine sound could easily have been masked by the roar from his tractor.

The craft clipped both sides of the fence with its landing gear. When it crossed the irrigation ditch a wheel dropped off.

After touching down in the plowed field it skidded on one engine and one remaining wheel. Most of the plane's pilot, estimated to be 500 pounds, was thrown at least 500 feet to the ground.

This was his first forced landing, he said. Patrolman Owens and Twin Falls Sheriff James W. Lovell, both commanding Marshalls, arrived when he handled the plane and the situation.

Federal aviation authorities were expected to arrive Saturday to check the crash.

Keith Curtis, Spokane, Northern Skysway company manager, owners of the disabled plane, arrived to Twin Falls to help the pilot.

Teacher Reports Reading Method

SHOSHONE, March 31—A review of reading methods was given to members of the Rotary club during their luncheon Wednesday.

Mrs. Viola McKendrick, second grade teacher from the Lincoln school, was in charge of the program. She was introduced by Sup't. John Severson.

Mrs. McKendrick was a method devised by professor in an eastern college; using symbols other than letters of the alphabet for the first lessons. Twin Falls Man Shoots Trophy Bear; 10-Foot Giant Now Decorates Home

Edward F. Pedersen, Jr., Twin Falls, the owner of probably the largest trophy bear in the state and one of the world's largest stuffed bears—a 10-foot Kodiak bear shot by him in November while hunting on Kodiak Island, near Alaska.

The bear was mounted by his brothers, Sam and a firm of taxidermists in the Boone and Crockett records.

The size of a bear is determined by Jones brothers by killing the skull and then drying for two weeks. The skull is then measured and the dimensions are used to determine the official size of the bear.

Pedersen's bear was killed Nov. 13 and his father's bear was shot Thanksgiving day. They walked about 16 miles each day.

Pedersen explained that his trophy won't be listed in the record book for two years since the record book is published every two years. The bear arrived in Twin Falls Saturday and was temporarily placed in the Pedersen home.

Pedersen and his father were accompanied on the hunting trip by two guides and four packers. His bear was shot for about 10 minutes, dead, out of range.

Hearing for Power Rates Hike Starts

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—An application for a rate hike was filed yesterday for southern Idaho power users before the state's public utilities commission at a formal hearing, beginning Monday, with the request already a political issue.

Idaho Power company, which provides electricity for much of southern Idaho, asked authority to increase rates by 10 percent, or 13.5 cent per kilowatt hour.

It said its operating costs have increased so much that its earnings no longer are adequate to cover its costs of capital. Without more capital it said it cannot continue to expand its generating facilities to meet increasing demands for power.

The Idaho public utilities commission asked the company to present testimony at a public hearing to support its request for higher rates. The hearing will last two or three days to present such evidence.

However, the commission said it will interrupt the company's hearing if it receives information to hear any individuals who come to protest. Only those present, however, who are speaking for themselves or who are not represented by counsel.

Organizations which oppose the increase—and the commission said there are about a dozen—will be given time to present their views through their attorneys, following completion of the company's case.

The hearing will then be referred to a panel of commissioners for final consideration, and sessions will follow later for cross examination of the company witnesses.

Love Legends On Continent Still Burning

ROME, March 31 (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton—"Cleopatra" and "Mark Anthony"—are right-clubbed, but the heat between them still burns.

Burton, 36, Veneto, adding fuel to a romantic blaze that is shooting off sparks on two continents.

Members of the postmidnight visit on the town said they "held hands, danced and kissed many times."

In New York Friday, Miss Taylor's singing husband, Eddie Fisher, labeled preposterous, ridiculous and absolutely false mounting reports that his marriage to the Oscar-winning actress is on the rocks.

Later, Fisher turned up in Washington, D.C., and refused to comment.

In Rome, officials of the multimillion-dollar current production of the sultry queen of the Nile, Twentieth Century-Fox, had nothing to say.

Suggestions that the whole thing might be a masterpiece of public relations for the film now before the cameras drew only chuckles.

Control weeds with Eptam® in ALFALFA BEANS CLOVERS CORN* POTATOES

Pacific Northwest growers solved some of their toughest weed problems in 1961 with an application of Eptam immediately prior to planting. Eptam controls watergrass, wild oats, quackgrass, yellow nutgrass, redroot pigweed, lamb's-quarters, hairy nightshade, and a number of other grass and broadleaf weeds.

Eptam can repay several times its cost in reduced weeding and cultivation, more efficient use of water, healthier plants and heavier harvests. Many a grower reports: "Without Eptam, I wouldn't even try to farm this land!"

Kennedy to Ask Benefits

For Jobless

WASHINGTON, March 31 (UPI)—President Kennedy disclosed today he will ask Congress to extend the existing system of unemployment benefits, pending action on permanent legislation to reshape the whole program.

The White House did not say what the chief executive will ask when he makes his proposal for jobless workers whose benefit periods run out. Nor did the announcement say when the request will go to congress, but it is expected to be no later than next week.

The temporary 13-week extension voted last year expired today and the stopgap request will be for extensions retroactive to April 1.

Kennedy made it clear he is not abandoning this broad program of permanent changes he requested on March 12 but feels action will have to be put over to next year.

Kennedy estimated that about 15 million jobless would be helped by his extension program. In his March 12 letter to congress he estimated 150,000 of the long-term jobless would exhaust regular benefits. About another 10,000 more would find themselves in this plight each month through the rest of the year.

Rider Finds Broken Glass Litters Bridle Path Here

Editor, Times-News:
Last week I rode my horse down Blue Lakes bridle path. Please think before you have a pleasant ride. Instead: I found there were so many broken bottles that I was forced to ride on the pavement a good portion of the time.

I presume the bridle path is meant for horses but evidently I am wrong. Motorists traveling along Blue Lakes bridle path, I fear, throw trash on the path to be trampled upon. I have found this to be true outside of Twin Falls in the borrow pits also. My friends and I like to ride out along the country roads but it would be better to use the different paths commented with bottles, boxes, tin cans and other rubbish. I wonder if the people who create this rubble have ever seen what broken glass does to a horse's feet.

I have talked to other kids with horses and they would be willing to help me clean up the Blue Lakes bridle path. But it would take a lot of time and effort if people continue to get rid of their trash in this slovenly manner. If these thoughtless motorists will stop throwing trash on the path which can be caused by the broken bottles, perhaps they will think before they carelessly toss another one out onto the roadside.

It might be well to remind the persons responsible that it is against the law to throw anything from a moving vehicle or otherwise littering.

Not only is it dangerous but it detracts from the beauty of the land. There are too few places to ride as it is without our only public bridle path. Please think before you have a pleasant ride. Instead:

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for electric light bulbs. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more they made, the less each one cost. Result: new and better electric light bulbs mass produced for more people at lower prices by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

Nominations also were made for the board, but final results to be announced.

A special committee was selected to secure a location for the youth center, to be reported on at the April 12 meeting.

It was announced that the youth center will plan some activities for the group. Current officers of the youth board are Jock Bell, president; Faro Elgin, vice president; Carlene Moulton, secretary, and Anna Norby, treasurer.

LOGS HAULED

FAIRFIELD, March 31—Workers for the McBride Logging company, Fairland and Idaho City, are hauling logs from Fairfield to Heyburn to construct a loading dock at the new lumber mill being built there by the Wendell Mill and Lumber company. The logs are coming down and hauling logs from the south hills when weather permits.

SINCE THE EARLY 1880's the city council of Bellevue has held its regular meetings in this hall in the bell in the belfry. This bell was also used to alert residents of Bellevue and the mining camp of Alturas about one and one-half miles distant in the days when it was first built. It has been silent for such use for many years. Last year the city council repaired the roof of the building. The belfry is a favorite roosting place for many pigeons. Bellevue, Chartered Town, Plans Election on April 6

BELLEVUE, March 31—Residents of Bellevue will elect a mayor and three aldermen at regular election to be held from 8 p.m. until 9 p.m. Candidates include Theodore Johnson, alderman; and T. J. Johnson for mayor; with incumbent aldermen James Etchison, Ralph Griffin and L. T. Johnson proposed by Kenneth Johnson. Mrs. W. W. Ivie and Hubert Hatch.

Holiday members of the village board are Joseph Bergin, O. D. Barker and William Kohl.

Bellevue is one of the two remaining chartered cities in the state—the other being Lewiston. Cities operating under charters until 1901 have been incorporated at different times than any others in the state and candidates are made eligible at nominating caucuses. Etchison caused a stir in the 1880's. Bellevue had a flour mill, was instituted July 13, 1882, under charter from the grand council of Oregon and the latter year, 1883.

In the early 1880's, with the Milne Moore and the Queen of the Hills, Bellevue was a flourishing city. Its population was estimated all the way from 2,000 to 10,000.

The city had more newspapermen than any other community in the Big Wood River valley.

The Wood River News was published weekly, with the first issue appearing in 1882.

It was published April 6, 1883.

But perhaps earlier, with the Bellevue Daily Chronicle at about the same time. The Bellevue Herald, which was published weekly by J. G. Gandy, was the first newspaper in the state.

The territorial legislature of 1882-83 granted Bellevue a charter.

County Review and the Weekly Silver Blade, with the latter being published by A. S. Abbott in 1888.

Bert Stetson published the newspaper in 1889-1910, with Clyde S. Shaw publishing a weekly paper there at the same time.

Although Bellevue had so many newspapers, there were more than 20 weekly and two dailies were published simultaneously.

The city had some of the best residential buildings in the county, three hotels, several restaurants, two drugstores, a school house, library, station, assay office, express office, blacksmith shop, a physician's residence and several saloons.

Old Falstaff Lodge and First Masonic Lodge, both in the Wood River Valley.

The city hall housed the city council of "every day" stands along highway 93, and the jail directly back of it.

The same city hall housed the county court of "every day" stands along highway 93, and the jail directly back of it.

A flour mill operated there for several years, the only one ever to operate in the valley.

Daughter of Kimberly Pair Receiving Fulbright Grant

KIMBERLY, March 31—Claire Slaughter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slaughter, Jr., Kimberly, received a telegram Friday morning from the University of Idaho informing her she had been awarded a Fulbright grant to study at the University of Caen, Paris, France, for one year.

The telegram, sent by Rep. Ralph Harding, D. Ida., informed Miss Slaughter that she was selected from students in 5 other universities throughout the nation to continue her studies abroad, amounting to $12,500. The scholarship is handled by the state department and only a few of the Fulbright scholarships are given each year to outstanding college seniors.

Miss Slaughter is a student at the University of Idaho, majoring in languages, and will receive her degree this June. She has been a member of the Associated Students of the University, a member of Spur's Journalistic society, Mortarboard, senior women's activity honorary. She received the Associated Women's scholarship for being selected outstanding female woman in her sophomore year. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman scholastic honor society, and a member of Beta Phi Chapter. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa during her junior year.

During her junior year she served as president of her sorority, Delta Delta Delta. Miss Slaughter graduated in 1961 from Kimberly High school where both her father and mother are teachers.

Montana and elsewhere brought many horses to participate in the races.

The tourist park, still used each Labor day for the city's annual celebration and get-together, is the same from far distant points of view. The location, however, is the same along the banks of Big Wood river and shaded by the same cottonwood trees, green and larger, as the city's earliest.

At a general election held Oct. 1, 1880, Bellevue received 715 votes for the permanent county seat of Logan county, and Shoshone, received 413. It remained the county seat until 1885, when both Logan and Alturas counties were abolished.

Bellevue's postoffice was established June 23, 1888. In a recent issue with the title "The Big Wood River Times of Halleys," during the bitter rivalry between the two towns for the county seat of Blaine county, the town of Halleys was mentioned as "Biddylvile" as being undignified.

While Bellevue was never called "Biddylvile" it may be the name of the town as given by Moses J. Addis, a settler in the land adjoining the townsite of Halleys on the south.

His name appeared frequently in early records of the county. In pictures he showed head and shoulders, he was the tallest. However there is no record to show he ever lived in Bellevue. This, however, gave slight grounds to the fiction that he was once called Biddylvile.

The same city hall housed the city council of "every day" stands along highway 93, and the jail directly back of it.

A flour mill operated there for several years, the only one ever to operate in the valley.

East Uses Team Balance To Down West 123-110 In Annual Shrine Game

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—(AP)—All-American Chet Walker set a balanced scoring pace with 19 points as the East beat the West 123-110 in the 11th Shrine East-West All-Star basketball game Saturday. Every one of the 20 players tallied points or more, and six from Lucas of Ohio State led the West with 23. It was comparatively easy for the sharp East crew as the West featuring Lucas and All-American Billy McGill of Utah made a concert of it only in the final quarter.

Bigs Paul Hogue of Cincinnati's NCAA champs outscored, and out-rebounded Lucas as the East pulled into a 103-94 lead half way, and had substance leads of 29 to 24 points before a late West drive cut its losing margin.

Stewart Scherard, Army's great little player, was the West's top point-scorer with 13.

Scherard made eight of 13 field goal attempts for 16 points, as he sparked the East offense. Lucas in addition to leading individual scorers was top scorer for the same team with 14 points. Lucas and Walker of Bradley did the top jobs among the All-Americans.

McGill was the nation's scoring champion at 39.3 point average, and limited to 11 points for the West. The East's Terry Duschinger of Purdue was limited to nine.

The East made 44 of 109 shots for 40.4 per cent. The West hit 46 of 114 for 40.4.

Grid Club to Judge Sports Scribes' Work

CINCINNATI, March 31 (UPI)—The Xavier University football squad will help settle a question next month that coaches have been asking for a long time:

"How much do sportswriters know about what they're writing?"

Conrad Ed Biles said today he will let two sportswriters, Bill Ford of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Harry Beckley of the Plain and Times Star take the Musketeers through their paces in an intrasquad game at the end of spring training April 14.

Biles said he will go to the press box and watch up to the game to see how well the writers do their job.

The whole idea is to promote greater understanding of mutual problems faced by coaches and sportswriters, which is why Ap-pleased Xavier coach explained.

"They [the writers] will be in complete charge, starting April 13, when they will practice their respective teams. The writers assume responsibility for the preparations of the teams for the spring game."

Palmer, Nicklaus Are Favorites for Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31 (UPI)—Through Sunday, will be the Augusta National golf tournament.

A slugging battle between two of golf's mightiest muscle men, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, promises to provide the highlight of the 26th annual biggest Masters tournament, open Thursday.

Palmer, 32, Latrobe, Pa., a two-time champion and holder of the British Open crown, is the nearest thing to a favorite in the star-spangled field of more than 100 expected to tee off for the $100,000 purse at the Augusta National course.

He won the title in 1958 and 1960 and seemed to have it in his pocket again last year until he took a double bogey 6 on the last hole and finished tied to Gary Player of South Africa.

Player, the first foreigner ever to win this championship, is defending, but apparently more by default than merit, which helped make him the leading money winner of the American professional circuit last year.

A strong wave of sentiment ridges with Nicklaus, a bulldog who has become a household name since mid-March with a leg injury, became the first pitcher ever to go nine innings for the New York Mets today. He allowed only four hits, six hits, 2-0, handing the slumping Cardinals their fourth straight exhibition defeat.

Cardiovascular basemen Bernie Allen and Jim Fregosi, double-to-left-center with one out in the 10th inning today to score two runs and give the Minnesota Twins a 6-4 win over the Philadelphia Phillies in their final meeting of the exhibition season.

UELSES VAULTS TO NEW OUTDOOR RECORD

Ex-Marine Tops 16-Foot Height In Second Jump

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., March 31 (UPI)—John Uelces, the strong-shouldered ex-marine, today became the first person ever to break the 16-foot barrier outdoors when he bettered the world record with a 16-foot, 3 1/4-inch pole vault at the 24th annual Santa Barbara relays. The only man in history to clear 16 feet—he had done it twice previously indoors—Uelces sailed over the bar on his second attempt after barely missing on his first努力.

Aided by warm weather at Surfside La Playa stadium, Uelces equalled his own best mark of 16' which he set Feb. 3 at the Boston Relays, gaining the title of world record holder. He broke the old world outdoor mark of 15 inches, 10 1/4 inches set last year by George Davies in the Big-Eight conference meet. Davies was today's competitor.

Uelces attempted three vaults at 16-feet, 2 1/4-inches, but appeared overjoyed and missed all three.

Just out of the mud, came the 24-year-old German-born Uelces, who awarded—the outstanding performer award in the day-long meet. Although several other outstanding meets were conducted, he was the only world record breaker.

University of Arizona's Larry Dunn flashed to a .93 clocking in the 100-yard dash, just tenths of a second behind the listed world mark, but the time was aided by a 4.9 miles an hour wind—just over the allowable limit.

Rick Babka set a new relay distance record when he won the event with a 194 feet, 1 1/2 inch toss into the ocean breeze. Jay Silvester took second with a heave of 190 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

Jim McCallin, who twice had broken the four-mile mile indoor this year, rested a bit today and ran only the anchor mile for the Los Angeles track club, whose distance medley relay team.

However, Beatty's time-off-a running start—was a sharp 4:02.8 and the latter's 9:55.4 clocking in the event was a class record.

Santa Ana college's Larry Stuari, competing in the open division, won the javelin with a national college record of 249 feet, 4 1/2 inches. UCLA's Bill Dahl took the mile in 4:06.7, and Olympic champion Harold Connolly established a relay mark of 219 feet, 15 inches.

Still Critical

NEW YORK, March 31 (UPI)—The condition of Benny (Kid) Pollard still was critical tonight, two weeks after he suffered head injuries in losing the welterweight boxing championship to Smilie Griffith.

A spokesman at Roosevelt hospital said Pollard "continues in a moderate coma."

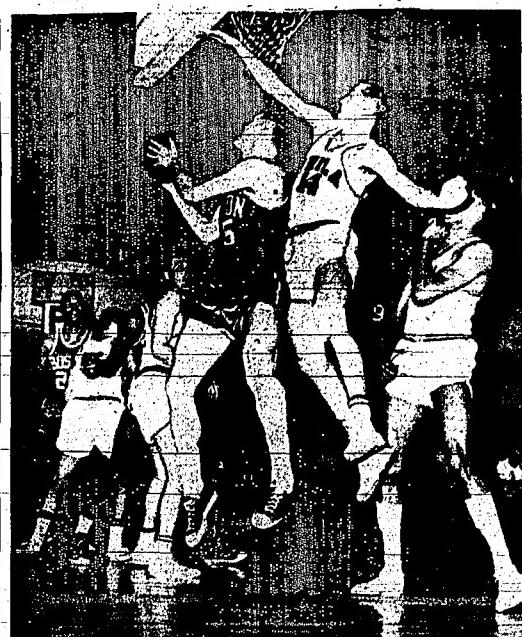

American Polo Team Defeated

NEW DELHI, March 31 (UPI)—An Indian polo team defeated a touring American team, captained by Col. James Spurrier, 8-7 today.

Other American team members were Peter Perkins, George Oliver and Col. Jackson Shirey.

Jerome Boys, Girls Shown Beef Cutting

JEROME, March 31—Glen Porter, butcher at Paul's Drive In, demonstrated beef cutting to Jerome's "I.D." girls and the agriculture II boys.

Mrs. Ralph Dunn, home economic instructor, and the girls will learn wholesale and retail cuts and the secret of meat cookery and how to get the best buy in the less expensive cuts of meat.

Carter Luther, agriculture instructor, said the boys will learn the right way to live healthy and how it compared to the dressing—percentage, wholesale and retail cuts, and from what part of the animal different cuts were taken.

Porter told the group that a slice to be broiled should be one inch thick and should still be pink on the inside when it is ready to eat. He also suggested marinating liver in vinegar and oil; it is entirely different flavor.

Wendell Sets 2-Mill Levy Voting Soon

WENDELL, March 31—Voters in Wendell school district No. 222 will be asked to approve a two-mill levy election Tuesday. The election is being held under provisions of a law first passed in 1959 which allows school districts with publicly owned farm labor camps to levy up to five mill.

If children of migrant workers in the labor camp within the district attend school in that district and the board of trustees feel it needs a levy, an additional mill is provided for them, they can do up to and including an additional five mills, provided voters approve it.

The polls will be open from 3 to 7 p.m. in the high school main hallway.

The additional money is needed to purchase new furniture in the grade school, library, maintenance of buildings, and other apparatus for the instructional program, school officials say.

Ketchum Business Is Result of Owner's Desire for Good Living

NEW BUSINESSMAN in Ketchum peers through a hand magnification unit at diamonds which are imported from Israel. Ben Goldberg, who had lived in Chicago most of his life, decided to move to Ketchum and brought his family and business with him. A watchmaker and diamond expert, he "likes the fresh air and skiing" found in this resort area. (Times-News photo)

KETCHUM, March 31 — Ben Goldberg often wondered why certain small businesses could not be located in a place where life would not be hectic.

Now he knows it can be done because he moved his business from Chicago, where he lived most of his life, to this remote community next door to famed Sun Valley.

Operator of the Texaco and Park Inn, Mr. Goldberg moved here three years ago with his wife and two children, a boy and girl. The reason for the move is simple: he found that "business is just as good here where you find a good, clean climate" as it was back east.

By trade, the small business operator is variously known as a watchmaker, jeweler or a diamond expert. Any or all of the titles would fit. He deals only with established jewelers and is not engaged in the retail trade.

His desire to settle in the Ketchum-Sun Valley area started about 10 years ago when he made an annual tour in this district in his line of business. He spent most of his time in Sun Valley, became acquainted with the area, and returned with the family for skiing. He finally decided it would be just as easy to live here and travel somewhere else. So, he did.

"I cannot understand why most small manufacturers do not set up in smaller communities like this," Goldberg said.

"In my case I have found that it works out just fine. I travel about 10,000 miles and one-half of the time I am in Sun Valley. It is always a pleasure to look forward to returning to such a clean community as this, where there are the mountains for pleasure and opportunity. You can't find anything in our large cities."

THIS MOUNTAIN, which is located behind famed and beautiful Stanley lake in Stanley basin, is attracting more hikers each year. Trails from the end of the forest road lead to little-known lakes nestled around the mountain. Improving these trails is a part of the yearly work of the forest service to keep pace with increased use. (Keller photo)

Local Residents, Tourists Are Overloading Mountain Areas

There still is a lot of snow in the Stanley basin country, but if you are thinking of getting out of the city and one-half of the year, it is always a pleasure to look forward to returning to such a clean community as this, where there are the mountains for pleasure and opportunity. You can't find anything in our large cities."

That was the impression given by J. L. Sevy, supervisor of the Sawtooth national forest, when he discussed the rapid popularity of the area.

It sounds almost too fantastic to be true, but the Stanley area is perhaps the district which would show the greatest percentage of use by tourist areas in the nation.

Gain Shown

Here are the rather startling statistics on just how popular

the district has become as an outdoor mecca. In the Sawtooth Valley area there were 70,000 visitors in 1950 and the number skyrocketed to 313,000 in 1959.

That is a 450 percent increase in just a span of five years.

Here are the rather startling statistics on just how popular the use of forest areas will, in our opinion, continue to mushroom with an expanding population and a desire to get away from the city.

He declared that rehabilitation of many existing campgrounds and picnic areas in the

Modern One-Story Structure to House All Buhl Grade Students

BUHL, March 31—Like most communities it has taken the city of Buhl years and years to travel from the one-story school house to the two story or more structures in use here now.

But after all this time the community youngsters, at least those of grade school age, are looking forward to one-story schools once more.

Of course the grade school now under construction is slated for use next fall will be a much better one than that first school in a wooden building, built about 1905 or so. This building is gone and now houses the J and K Apparel company.

The new unit is a three-story building on three levels. Areas will connect so it will not be necessary for students or adults to travel across open areas when going from one building to another.

Engelking, superintendent of schools, points out the school will be an all electric affair, including heat. Because it is constructed on solid rock which discourages digging, the electric power will be reliable.

The school is located on 18 acres of land northeast of the present high school and west of the Presbyterian church.

The contract price, Engelking says, is $250,000 and the contractor is the Remington Construction company, Twin Falls.

The cost does not include equipment for the 30 classrooms, except for blackboards, but does include basketball backboards in the gymnasium and some kitchen equipment.

The gymnasium, the superintendent points out, will double as cafeteria and auditorium.

Students will join students children in the hot lunch program, it is expected that from 800 to 900 students will be fed daily.

Along with the 30 classrooms, there are rooms for teaching, the principal's office and teacher's workroom. In addition to the administrative offices, storerooms and other needed areas.

The present F. H. Buhl grade school being remodeled on the interior to accommodate seventh and eighth grade students.

The new school is a part of an extensive remodeling program undertaken by the Buhl school board.

The present F. H. Buhl grade school is being remodeled on the interior to accommodate seventh and eighth grade students.

The Lincoln school will be abandoned under the setup and probably will be torn down.

All grade school students in the community will go to the new school. Some 80 per cent of those will be accommodated in the new unit.

With the new school completed, the present Lincoln grade school building will be abandoned and the F. H. Buhl school will become a junior high building. (Times-News photo)

SCHOOL OFFICIALS inspect a site in the extraction of the $150,000 grade school being constructed on 18-acre plot of land at Buhl. Left, Engelking, superintendent of schools; right, discusses the program with Leo Poppell, who will be principal of the new unit. When the new structure is finished the present Lincoln grade school building will be abandoned and the F. H. Buhl school will become a junior high building. (Times-News photo)

Nation Not Prepared to Detect Should Attack Come From South

Any attack upon the North American continent from the South, with rockets, missiles or outer space bombs, would surely be disastrous because the U.S. apparently has no prior warning system.

That was the opinion brought back to Twin Falls by Stanley F. Curfew, Times-News' composing room foreman, after he had visited the command center of North American air defense command headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. Curfew is believed to be the first Idaho newspaper reporter to be permitted into the secret facility.

He left Twin Falls in an army plane with a group of businessmen, educators and reserve officers from the Air Force academy.

However, the command center, Colorado Springs, Curfew and two air force reserve officers, Lieut. Col. Warren R. Murphy, Twin Falls, and Maj. William Clapp, Ketchum, were informed that they would not be allowed to inspect the command post, one of the most secret facilities in North America.

It was being dug into one of the biggest holes shown in the world. The entire operations is being moved and set up under Crowsnest mountain. By putting it under the mountain, Curfew was told, the command center will be made virtually safe from thermonuclear attack. The excavation will be completed in about two weeks.

So far, the air defense system in the space provided under the mountain that the main part of the facility will be a three-story steel structure within a series of intersecting chambers.

The new location will provide more than 200,000 square feet of storage space. With the excavation nearly completed, it is expected to take 18 months for completion of the buildings and 12 months more to install and test equipment. It is estimated that the new location will be given to the air defense system, to Ottawa and Washington and the Pentagon. Should Nazis America ever be subjected to an air raid, the battle would be monitored from this point. (Official Defense command. From here an attack warning would be given

A recent wedding picture in Twin Falls has received wide notice in the nation. But Fowler married Tod Kingland and Tod had an identical twin brother, Terry.

A "gag" picture, showing the new bride looking confused as she was being led to the altar, went over the national Associated Press wirephoto network to which the Times-News is connected.

To date, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fowler, Twin Falls, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kingland, and the San Francisco Examiner.

The wirephoto network to which the Times-News is connected permits selected pictures to be printed in various publications.

The Chicago Tribune, New York, placed the picture on page one in the lead spot with the caption: "The Bride Appears Confused." The photo, originally taken by Kingland and followed it up a few days with a picture of their photographers took at Lewiston and Clark College of the former Miss Fowler displaying her bouquet to a group of her honor sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler also have received clippings of the picture from the Vancouver and Seattle newspapers, as well as the Los Angeles Times, the Des Moines Register and the San Francisco Examiner.

The wedding picture appeared in the Times-News Sunday Feature Column, Sunday, March 18, and was sent out on wirephoto to the United States instantly.

Indians Create Problem In Managing State Game

BY PIERRE MULLING POOCATELLO, March 31 (Special to the Times-News) — Though the National Wildlife Federation has asked us to bear down on waterfowl, it will not be a failure to do so, but it will be a terrible mistake to concentrate on Idaho's big, old game problem— Indians.

Our most important, and—theoretically, most easily solvable waterfowl problem is situated in the Snake River valley, in different categories when it comes to wildlife protection, that canal into the Fort Hall reservation, thus ending it for both fish and waterfowl. It was closed to the east anyway.

The Fort Hall Indians have been granted a permit to hunt the Dakotas and Montana, and it is practically dry.

Space does not permit a review of the 1963 hearings inago, that this is a bouquet of a Chamber of Commerce, and the first and only that I have presented.

Every other conservation project has been a failure, and the federal government has been blamed by all Chambers of Commerce. It takes the exception to prove the rule.

This issue is not dead, I think it got boost in 1961 when the state of Idaho passed a bill to protect the waterfowl habitat of the Fort Hall Indians.

Further, though the Indian situation is unique, it is a different problem when it comes to wildlife protection, that canal into the Fort Hall reservation, thus ending it for both fish and waterfowl. It was closed to the east anyway.

The Indians are the ones who have been blamed for the failure of the waterfowl protection program.

These legal "law violations" always exist in both ends of Idaho. They are the Nez Perce and

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Rural mailboxes are necessities on all farms and ranches where most owners are content to have their mailboxes mounted on wooden or iron posts stuck in the ground. In some instances the post is pulled up and the mailbox is discarded. However, there are a few enterprising rural residents in the area who have managed to give a more personalized look to their mailboxes. Using old scrap iron, antiquated implements or other discarded items from the scrap heap, they have managed to produce some unique and attractive mailboxes.

For instance, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jags, on their farm south of BUHL, have taken an old cream separator and used it for the stand for their mailbox. A wire basket has been fastened to the side of the box to hold packages and pieces of mail too large to fit in the box. The basket is black and the whole box and basket have made this an appealing holder.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Anderson, east of Buhl, have cleverly used an old kitchen pump for their stand. The pump is painted white and supported by a frame which holds the mailbox at the top which is fastened to the stand. The pump and handle have been painted black and the pump has been painted white to make them more noticeable.

Not far from the Anderson home is the residence of the Rev. E. L. Goss, who has welded together a single chain which circles the top of the box which is fastened to the stand. This makes an out-of-the ordinary holder for their mail.

Wagon wheels are always popular for mailbox stands. Robert Blackstock, Jr., home north of FILER features a wheel painted white and supported by a frame which holds the mailbox at the top. The Kings, on their Clover-trace farm have used half-a-wheel which is sunk into the ground and the mailbox fastened to the top.

Lee Nease, who lives west of TWIN FALLS, has used three machine cylinder teeth to make his box holder. These are welded together into an A-frame which holds the mailbox. Lee has painted silver to make an outstanding and distinctive support.

An optical illusion is created at the D. T. Hankins home west of Twin Falls, where it appears that the mailbox is suspended from the mailbox. In reality, of course, the chain has been welded together and placed in a concrete block in the ground.

Nease, who lives near the Arabian horse ranch Filer, have welded together seven horse shoes to make their box holder. Two mule shoes which are slightly smaller than horse shoes have been placed at the bottom and placed at the sides of the box for an extra decorative effect.

At the Reuben Lierman home near Filer, a metal pole with a decorative cap holds the family name has been hung on a metal plate in the half circle. The pole and iron grill work below the box have been painted black and gold. A wire basket opposite the mailbox holds packages and large pieces of mail.

A RICHFIELD couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph King, believe their opportunity to seek a lookout at Notch butte near SHOSHONE will be tame compared to their experiences last summer when they put up a mailbox without first knocking at the door with their rattle-snake stick.

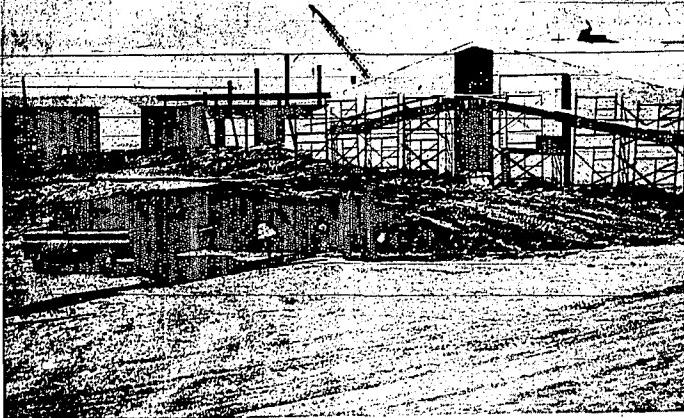

Chief excitement last summer at East Butte was the alert last summer during the entire fire season. Their first summer, when they were located at Notch butte, looked out over the valley. They, seemed comparatively tame.

Battleaxemen kept them on the alert last summer during the entire fire season. Their first summer, when they were located at Notch butte, looked out over the valley. They, seemed comparatively tame.

Engagement at Shiloh Was Bloodiest Battle on North American Continent

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Writer

It was a small log Methodist meeting house tucked away in the quiet backwoods of northwestern Tennessee. They called it "the little chapel after the Bible, a place of peace."

Yet on Saturday evening, April

8, 1862, it was a place of a forward command post of the powerful Union army of the Tennessee, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S.

Grant, commanding.

And on the following day,

Monday, the peace was to be broken by the bloodiest battle on the North American continent, a struggle that drew its name from the chapel: The battle of Shiloh.

The men of the Tennessee,

40,000 strong with a growing tradition of victory unique among Union forces, was an army in waiting.

In a few days, Maj. Gen. Don

Carter, with his 20,000-man

army of the Ohio would arrive and together they would assa-llie the Confederates at the vital rail junction of Corinth, Miss., 20 miles south.

It was a relaxed army — and careless.

When Col. J. J. Apple of the 3rd Ohio, known as a nervous man, warned Maj. Gen. William

T. Sherman that he would be led to a large enemy force in front of his lines, Sherman glared at him.

"Take your damn regiment

back to Ohio," he sneered. "There is no enemy nearer than Corinth."

Grant himself, recuperating from a painful ankle sprain suffered in a fall from his horse, directed his immediate orders to

Maj. Gen. Henry W. Halleck, in his last reserves but Maj. Gen.

Johnston himself went to the front to review forces. Waiting in the rain taken from a Yankee breakfast table, he led a successful charge through a peach orchard in full bloom.

He was shot in the leg and bled to death on the field.

judgment, based on the system's data, which could spell the salvation of a civilization, will be made initially by one man. That man is the commander-in-chief of NORAD.

Another system in the unit is the space detection and tracking system—SPADATS. This system is an electronic answer to science's demonstrated ability to launch and maneuver vehicles with payloads. These vehicles could serve as weapons platforms for an attack against North America. The tracking system is the newest addition to the family of warning systems. In addition to providing complete and timely tracking information of all known space objects, SPADATS maintains an information catalog of space vehicles which is continually revised and updated in the control center. Computer processing is able to determine orbits of these objects and keep a schedule of the satellites positions in space at regular intervals.

From a modest beginning, the Times-News representative was told, the system has come a long way. It is now the first, and so far only, combat command to be operational in space as well as in the atmosphere.

Three history-shattering precursors were established. It is the first two-nation, multi-service military command to operate in this continent and its approaches; it is the first time the governments of Canada and the United States have joined their military forces under direct operational command and control of a single commander; it is the first time inside the United States that military forces have been allocated to "operare under a single unified commander."

"Although I was led to believe that we are vulnerable from the south," Curtis says, "we were blacked out and had no idea what was being done. Steps are being taken to correct this at the present time. How long before completion, I could not guess."

Deliberation of State Legislatures Filled with Faux Pas That Refresh

By The Associated Press
"I don't make jokes," Will Rogers said. "I just watch the government and report the facts." Will would have had a ball this year. It's easy to see with our state legislatures. There is no humor better than galloping oratory that overleads itself and becomes impaled on a tortured metaphor or a muddy metaphor problem or a ringing contradiction.

Thus a few weeks ago a member of the Massachusetts house was debating a bill when one of his colleagues asked him, "How long for us to stand?" to take a definite stand—and put the question on the ballot for the people to decide."

The New York state assembly was debating a bill when one of its members asked another who would vote for what services would go with the bill. This self-choking knot quickly ensued:

"Who do you mean by who?"
"What do you mean, who do I mean by who?"

"The who you just referred to?"
"Who do you mean? . . ."

"I am talking about the statement you just made 60 seconds ago."

"What was the statement I made?"

"I don't know."

"Neither do I."

Every year produces great elliptics of the tongue-in-state capitols—but New Jersey this year produced one that would have had all the world's press media in fits if it had been visiting in the last digitized unit.

The senator is adjourned," he said, forthrightly bringing down his gavel with which the edict was issued. "I am adjourned, which gets into the air training India ink all over the rostrum, himself, the clerk, the president and three page boys."

In the last session of the South Dakota legislature, a man—just manager of a typewriter—had introduced one that would have been repealed by a bill that would have replaced the entire 1980 supplement to the state code and, in one stroke, would have nullified 22 years of legislative history.

During the last session of the Maryland legislature, a senator complained about the great number of expectant mothers on the welfare rolls. A welfare department man rose to explain but his colleague interrupted him in a fit of laughter. He got only so far as saying, "We're trying to get these women back into the labor market!"

The Texas house adopted a resolution urging the House delegation in congress to oppose bills for federal aid to schools.

Whereupon a state representative introduced another resolution: "In the spirit of keeping a separation between the state and federal systems, we have told Congress on many occasions what we would do with our affairs. Congress has, as far as I know, never memorialized us, but thus maintained an aloof and arrogant position with respect to the Texas legislature; now, therefore, be it resolved—that the Texas legislature memorialize Congress to memorize us some of the time we are training program. He is now undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the naval training center, San Diego.

3 Salesmen For Firm to Get Awards

Three salesmen for Thelen Motors, 101 Main Avenue east, left Thursday for Denver, Colorado, where they will receive Ford Motor Company's "inner circle" awards.

Elin Brown-Art Hirling and Abbie Uriquen are among the top 15 Mercury salesmen. Art, company's Denver district manager, selected 1,600 salesmen in the district to receive the award each year.

Emmett Harrison, sales manager at Thelen motors, mentioned Friday that he and the local Ford dealers were "very fortunate" for three of its salesmen to receive the award while competing with dealerships in much larger areas. States involved include Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, New Mexico and parts of Kansas and Texas. There are about 150 Mercury dealerships in the district.

Harold said that the Ford company flew the three salesmen and their wives to Denver for a four-day trip. The salesmen will have a conference with Lincoln-Mercury district offices after the awards are highlighted by a Saturday evening banquet, where the awards will be presented.

What Spring Prompts You to Throw Away Sell Instead the Want Ad Way

SWIRLING MUDDY WATER streams across a normally arid desert stretch north of Shoshone as snows melt under the hot daytime sun. This stream, more than 50 feet wide and several feet deep in places, is north of the point where Big Wood river goes under highway 93. A car can be seen parked on the highway in the background. SWIFT FLOWING stream of desert flood water cuts across the road leading from highway 93, north of Shoshone, to the favorite fishing area, in the "big hole" below Magic dam. The water, spread over most of the area between Shoshone and Timmerman hill, is doing little or no damage other than turning the otherwise dry desert into a sea of mud. (Times-News photo)

Desert Area North of Shoshone Has Rivers, Lakes as Snow Melts

SHOSHONE, March 31—Numerous streams, numerous lakes, both small and large, were noted in the generally arid area between Shoshone and Timmerman hill. Hills surrounding the area were still covered with deep snow, providing for continued runoff.

A survey of the area this week showed the heavy snow was melting at a rapid rate, and as a result, the desert was streaked with streams which sometimes reached widths of 100 feet or more.

In addition to the swift moving streams, numerous lakes, both small and large, were noticed in the hills surrounding the area. However, it is not necessary anymore.

Although no real water is being released from Magic reservoir, the Big Wood river channel is now flowing deep. The desert runoff, cascading down toward the low areas, is running over the banks and the canal in several places and is spilling onto the lava fields of the area.

So far as damage is concerned, the survey showed it to be slight. Many desert trail roads, of course, have been washed out as portions of the road from highway 93 to the favorite "big hole" fishing area were washed away. But desert wildlife, including rabbits, have migrated to higher ground by the hundreds.

Roads to "communities" located on either side of the backcountry were all snow covered and impassable. Even the "big hole" was flooded.

The "flood" runoff will continue for at least another week.

In some years movement of sheep across this area starts early in April. This year will probably start later, however, transport stocks in
